Evaluation letter of PEHELI 4ALL project

Youth Exchange promoting a culture of peace and healthy living among young people through cross-cultural exchange and experiential learning.

Activity dates: 25 of May till 4 of June 2025 (including traveling dates)

Activity place: Hylatio Tourist Village, Limassol, Cyprus

The participants of the project have experienced significant personal and professional growth, acquiring new soft skills and competences, fostering creativity, communication abilities, and gaining visibility.

One of the most valuable aspects of the project was the peer education component. Our participants felt empowered not only to absorb new knowledge, but also to take on active roles—whether through leading workshops, sharing practices from their cultures, or planning follow-up activities to engage youth in their own countries.

Participants have expressed eagerness to share the tools and methods acquired during the project. This enthusiasm indicates the practical applicability and relevance of the skills learned, with participants envisioning implementation in their future projects and daily activities.

Notably, the project has led to significant attitude changes among participants. They have become more confident and aware of the diversity and the imperative need for inclusivity. This positive shift in attitude is indicative of the project's success in promoting a more inclusive and empathetic approach among participants.

Participants have left overwhelmingly positive feedback, praising both the educational component and the logistics and support provided.

On behalf of our organization, we would like to commend the well-organized management of the project. The transparent processes and the attentiveness to the needs of our NGO created a pleasant and productive partnership. The project's success can be attributed, in part, to the efficiently built system of communication.

In conclusion, the Erasmus+ YE was an exceptionally well-organized and impactful project. The project has successfully encouraged young people to actively participate in future activities and initiatives.

We're proud to have been part of this exchange. The learning, friendships, and motivation it sparked will surely carry on long after the project ends. We thank the organizers and partners for their dedication and professionalism throughout the process.
